- Environmental impact of different firefighting foams used for firefighting has not been completely confirmed. Some foam entered Bayou. Two initial foams used by ITC did not contain PFOS.

We are seeking information on the foam that was used yesterday by a fire fighting specialist hired to put out the fire. EPA, TCEQ and USCG have requested and ITC is seeking the safety data sheets on the foam from the vendor.

Keep in mind, we do not know what the local fire departments may have used when they first responded to the initial fire. ITC is seeking that information as well.

The Safety data sheets you were provided earlier this week were for the material ITC had on hand and used.

So we don't know if the firefighting foam contains PFOS?

David – the document includes highlighted changes. Also, added a comment with some language about the booms that are being place. Call if you need anything.
